

What The Bible Reveals About Dinosaurs

The Lord God was speaking to righteous Job. "See now behemoth that I created as I created you (mankind). He eats grass like an ox. His strength is in his thighs. His force is in the muscles of his belly. He moves his tail like a cedar tree. The sinews of his thighs are knitted together. His bones are like tubes of brass. His limbs are like bars of iron. He is the first of the (animals) created by God. Only God Who made him can approach him with His sword. The mountains produce food for him where all the animals of the field play. He lies under the lotus trees in the cover of the reed and the marsh. The lotuses cover him with their shade. The willows of the brook surround him. If a river overflows he does not tremble. He is confident though the Jordan River swells up to his mouth. Can anyone take him when he is on the watch or pierce through his nose with a snare?" (Job 40:15 to 24).

This is a Scriptural description of what we now call a dinosaur and there is a wealth of information in these verses. God created Behemoth the same day He created Adam. The animal was huge with a tail the size of the trunk of a cedar tree. Some people think the behemoth was a hippopotamus or elephant but they do not have tails the size of the trunk of a tree. It was a strong, powerful animal without any sense of fear. It was so tall it stood above the depths of the Jordan River, which was very deep in those days. Nobody could catch or snare the behemoth. It lived peacefully among the other animals and was completely herbivorous. Unlike scientist's assumptions, it was not carnivorous. The Bible says it only ate grass like an ox. It was not aggressive, it did not attack other animals, it did not eat other animals, humans had nothing to fear from the behemoth and it sheltered under greenery. It lived in complete harmony with its surroundings. This verse also reveals brass and iron were in production so there was mining in these ancient times. It was the first animal God said He created. Since Job was familiar with this animal, it proves dinosaurs were on earth at the same time as people, not millions of years before. If Job did not know anything about this animal, the entire conversation between God and Job would not have made any sense, especially when God said, "See now behemoth". The Old English word 'behemoth' is derived from the Hebrew word, 'bemuth'.

There are other Scripture verses revealing to us, there were huge land beasts and massive sea creatures. Before the word 'dinosaur' was thought up, the huge beasts were usually called dragons or a word similar to that. 'In that day, the Lord with His hard, great and strong sword will punish leviathan, the fleeing serpent, leviathan the twisted serpent and He will kill the dragon that is in the sea' (Isaiah 27:1). When we study the English word 'dragon' we can see it is used in several languages for both land and sea creatures. In Hebrew the words used in this verse are, 'luithn nchsh' for the leviathan or large serpent, and 'thnin' for a dragon or great monster. French, Latin and Greek use a word that sounds like, 'draco'. Other languages have a name for the same type of beast. Leviathan is an Old English/Latin word derived from the Hebrew word, 'luithn'. The massive beasts mentioned in the Bible are now extinct. We no longer have a creature that looked like a snake that could fly as it sprayed fire and steam out of its nostrils. The 'fiery flying serpent' unknown to us now was mentioned in the Bible and the people knew what it was (Isaiah 14:29; 30:6). We can see a pattern of extinction here in both land and sea creatures. Once the animals were no longer needed, the Lord Himself brought about their extinction as we can read in the following verse. 'Lord, You divided the sea by Your strength. You broke the heads of the sea monsters in the waters. You broke the heads of Leviathan in pieces. You gave him as food to people and desert creatures' (Psalm 74:13 & 14). "The great monster that lies in the midst of his rivers ... I will put hooks in your jaws and I will make the fish of your rivers stick to your scales. I will bring you up out of the midst of your rivers with all the fish of your rivers sticking to your scales. I will cast you forth into the wilderness, you and all the fish of your rivers. You will fall on the open field ... I have given you for food to the animals of the earth and to the birds of the sky" (Ezekiel 29:3 to 5).

An unnamed 'evil animal' (in Hebrew, chie roe) was mentioned in the Bible eight times. We do not know what type of animal it was but it was large, fierce, terrifying and tore people apart. It was big enough to ravage the land and lived in wooded areas. 'We will say an evil animal has devoured him' ... 'An evil animal has devoured him. Joseph has been torn to pieces' (Genesis 37:20 & 33). 'God will remove evil animals out of the land' ... 'I will make with them a covenant of peace and will cause evil animals to cease out of the land. They will dwell securely in the wilderness and sleep in the woods' (Leviticus 26:6; Ezekiel 34:25). 'Evil animals will bereave you' (Ezekiel 5:17). 'If I cause evil animals to pass through the land and they ravage it, and it be made desolate so no man may pass through because of the evil animals' ... 'How much more when I send My four sore judgments, ... the sword, the famine, the evil animals and the pestilence' (Ezekiel 14:15 & 21). The 'evil animals' were not bears, large felines or large canines because bears, lions, leopards, wolves, jackals and wild dogs were all mentioned by name in the Bible (Proverbs 17:12; Genesis 49:9; Isaiah 11:6; Isaiah 43:20; Exodus 11:7).

Here is description of another dinosaur-like beast that actually expelled a gas like methane that could cause sparks or a flash of flame. God is speaking with Job again. "Can you draw out Leviathan with a fishhook or press down his tongue with a cord? Can you put a rope into his nose or pierce his jaw through with a hook?"

Will he entreat you or will he speak softly to you? Will he make a covenant with you so you could take him for a servant forever? Will you play with him as you would with a bird? Will you tie him (as a pet) for your young daughters? Will traders barter for him? Will they part him among the merchants? Can you fill his skin with barbed irons or his head with fish spears? If you lay your hand on him you will remember the battle and will never do it again. Behold, the hope of capturing him is futile. One will be nervous at the sight of him. No animal is so fierce he would dare stir him up ... I will not keep silent concerning his limbs nor his mighty strength nor his mighty frame. Who can strip off his (scaly) outer garment? Who can enter his jaws? Who can prise open the doors of his face around his terrible teeth? Strong scales are his pride closed up together with a close seal. One is so near to another no air can come between them. They are joined one to another; interlocked. They stick together so they cannot be pulled apart. His sneezes flash out light. His eyes are like the eyelids of the morning, shimmering like dawn. Out of his mouth go burning torches. Sparks of fire leap forth. Out of his nostrils smoke or steam goes like a boiling pot over a fire of reeds. His breath kindles coals. A flame goes forth from his mouth. There is strength in his neck. Terror dances before him. The scales of his flesh are joined together. They are firm on him. They cannot be moved. His heart is as firm as a stone, yes as firm as the lower millstone. When he raises himself up the mighty are afraid. They retreat before his thrashing tail. If one attacks him with the sword, it cannot prevail nor the spear, the dart or the lance. He regards iron as straw and brass as rotten wood. Arrows cannot make him flee. Sling stones are like chaff to him. Clubs are counted as stubble. He laughs at the rushing of the javelin. His belly is like shards of pottery leaving a trail in the mud like a threshing sledge. He makes deep water to boil like a pot. He makes the sea boil like a pot of ointment. He makes a wake shine after him making the deep seem like it has white hair. On earth there is no creature his equal without any fear. He sees everything that is high. He is king over all beasts on earth" (Job 41:1 to 34).

God created the universe then the earth to be inhabited and then He filled it in this order according to Genesis chapters 1 & 2. Just like parents prepare a nursery when they are expecting a new baby, so also God prepared the earth and the Garden of Eden for His greatest creation – mankind. On the first day God created light and separated it from darkness. The earth was already dark and void so light brightened it and made it liveable. On day two God created water on earth and in the skies and there is water on other planets but there is no life on other planets. On day three God separated the levels of water into three groups, water on land, water under the ground and water in the skies then He created all plant life; grass, shrubs, trees, fruit trees, vegetables, trees that bear nuts and seeds, flowering trees, small flowering plants and every other kind of vegetation. There is no species of tree older than another because they were all created on the same day. All vegetation was created to reproduce after its own kind. There were no hybrid plants. The light of God sustained the vegetation until the sun was created. On the fourth day God created the sun, moon, stars, planets, comets, space rock, meteors and everything else in the universe. He also created the four seasons, perfect weather conditions and time as we know it, which did not exist before then. On the fifth and sixth days God created all land animals, all sea creatures, all birds and other flying animals like bats and flying foxes, all reptiles, all mammals, unusual creatures like the platypus, all insects, arachnids (spiders and the like) and every species of animal would reproduce after its own kind. There were no hybrid animals. Every animal on earth ate only vegetation (Genesis 1:29 & 30 and 9:3). Nothing ate meat because there was no death and eating meat requires the animal to die. Death did not come to earth until sin brought death. On the sixth day God created Adam. Adam and all the animals were created out of the dust or clay on the ground (Genesis 2:7 & 19). Eve was the only person or creature formed out of flesh. She was created out of Adam's rib (Genesis 2:21 to 23). The first animal that ever died was the lamb God killed to make skin clothing for Adam and Eve (Genesis 3:21). Eve made aprons for herself and Adam by sewing large fig leaves together (Genesis 3:7) but God knew fig leaves would not keep them warm. Because there was no death before Adam sinned only about 6,000 years ago, it is impossible for any fossil or skeleton to be older than that, so Carbon dating can only be accurate within our 6,000 year time period. After Adam sinned, people and animals began to die.

Every single animal species is today exactly as God created them about 6,000 years ago. The platypus today is exactly as God created it. Because of sin and extreme wickedness on the earth, God asked Noah to build the Ark to save only Noah, his wife, their three sons and the son's wives. The earth was flooded by heavy rains, the ground opened up and water poured out, fountains from the deep gushed upwards and the entire earth was flooded until everything on earth was drowned and destroyed. 'All flesh died that moved on the earth including birds, livestock, animals, every creeping thing that creeps on the earth and every man. Everything in whose nostrils was the breath of the spirit of life of all that was on the dry land died. Every living thing was destroyed that was on the surface of the ground, including man, livestock, creeping things and birds of the sky. They were destroyed from the earth. Only Noah was left and those who were with him in the ship' (Genesis 7:21 to 23). Notice this verse said, 'All that was on dry land'. Sea creatures and fresh water dwelling animals did not enter the Ark but most would have survived by remaining deep in the sea. Immediately after the flood, the animals that survived the thirteen months aboard Noah's Ark were released into the wild but the earth was completely different than the world they had left. After over a year of soaking, the earth would have been damp, humid and unlike anything the animals had previously experienced. For example, before the flood, it never rained but a mist went up from the ground and watered the earth with heavy dew (Genesis 2:6). After the flood, the animals depended on rain for moisture. The animals that survived reproduced abundantly, spread around the earth and replenished it (Genesis 8:17 & 19).

The earth was one landmass so animals and people could wander around quite easily. During the days of Peleg the earth broke up into separate continents. Peleg was on earth 340 years after the flood. Peleg died 9 years before his great, great, great grandfather Noah and 162 years before Noah's son Shem. We know the earth was once one huge landmass but somehow, possibly due to an earthquake or something similar, the earth's landmass was broken up into the continents we know today. 'In the days of Peleg, the earth (and its people and animals) was divided up' (Genesis 10:25; 1 Chronicles 1:19). The animals considered to be native to certain areas thrived in the places where they had few predators. Only after the flood did people and animals begin to eat flesh. Before the flood, every living thing ate only vegetation. Since people began eating animals, more wildlife would have become extinct. Many animal species have become extinct since Noah's flood happened, and not necessarily because of the flood. The dodo bird became extinct because they and their eggs were delicious to eat and were not given enough time to reproduce. Tigers, black rhino and a species of elephant have either become extinct recently or are listed as an endangered species.

Dinosaur bones were first discovered in the 1820's by an English doctor named Gideon Mantell when he found some unusual teeth and bones in a quarry. The doctor realised he had discovered animal remains not seen before. A British scientist named Dr Richard Owen thought the huge bones resembled reptiles so in 1841 he gave the new species the name of 'dinosauria' which means 'terrible lizard' in Latin. The Bible tells us where dinosaurs came from – God created them on the sixth day of creation. They did not live millions of years ago and they did not evolve from birds. We need to keep in mind, the word 'dinosaur' was not thought up until recently so it will not be found in the Bible. There are some animals alive today that resemble small dinosaurs but the huge ones have died out. These animals are not mysterious at all. The Bible talks about them and it is written there for anyone to study. Dinosaurs roamed the earth from the day of creation until most of them died out during the deluge of Noah's flood about 4,500 years ago. Fossils of dinosaurs have been found all over the world. During the flood their huge bodies would have moved around the globe until the water subsided and they were buried by silt, soil, rocks and other debris along with the carcasses of all of the other animals and humans who died in the flood. Scientists have discovered 'graveyards' filled with dinosaur skeletons and have said they must have died quickly and all at the same time but being non-believers they refused to acknowledge the find was consistent with the flood account written in the Bible. Since there was no death before Adam sinned so no dinosaurs died before then, carbon dating on fossils and skeletons can only be deemed accurate if they are found to have died less than 6,000 years ago.

Dinosaurs never ever 'ruled the earth' because they were here alongside people and people have always dominated the earth. Adam was told to have dominion over the earth and all wildlife (Genesis 1:26 & 28). There is absolutely no tangible proof the world is thousands of years old but we do have the Bible that tells us this earth is only about 6,000 years old. The writers who penned the Bible wrote down exactly what God told them to write so the Scriptures are an accurate record of mankind's history from just before creation when the earth was still dark and shapeless (Genesis 1:2) so we know exactly where dinosaurs came from and when. We have the written record of Noah's flood informing us nearly all the animals on earth were drowned in the flood. Although Noah's took two and seven pairs of every animal, some would not have survived the thirteen months on the Ark. Other animals would have died out soon afterwards because the perfect conditions they were used to before the flood would have changed so much, many animals would not have been able to cope. Other animals would not have been able to find a mate to breed so their species would have become extinct. Competition for food would have caused some creatures to die out. The global destruction of habitats would have made it impossible for some more vulnerable species to survive. Some people say the dinosaurs were too big to enter Noah's Ark. Most dinosaurs were small. The adult animals of the larger species would have been too big but Noah would have been sensible enough to take young dinosaurs that would have grown in size after they were released from the Ark. Young animals would also have had more years to reproduce so older, fully grown animals would have been left out. Scientists studying dinosaur bones estimate it took approximately twelve years for a dinosaur to grow to adult height, so young dinosaurs would have fitted in the Ark quite easily. We also need to remember, the Ark was three tall storeys high and absolutely huge. It was not a small vessel. People ask how Noah rounded up all those animals to go into the Ark. Quite simply, it was God who brought the animals to Noah (Genesis 6:20) and in His Wisdom, He would have chosen the appropriate animals to be taken into the Ark. God is all-powerful and is more than capable of achieving anything. God wanted the animals on the Ark so He had over a year to lead them to Noah, from the day God first told Noah to build the Ark to the day they entered the Ark. Only land animals entered Noah's ship. No sea creatures were taken on board. 'There is the sea, great and wide in which are innumerable living creatures, both small and large animals. There (on the sea) the ships go and leviathan (luithn), whom You created to play there' (Psalm 104:25 & 26). In this context, the 'leviathan' was not a fierce monster but a sea dwelling animal, possibly a whale.

There were not very many different types of dinosaurs. Today, we have hundreds of different names but most of them have been named from a single bone or tooth taken from the same breed of dinosaur found in different countries. When scientists make up a whole animal out of a single bone or tooth then they give it a name, that animal is little more than a figment of their wild imaginations. It has been proven, some so-called dinosaur species are actually made up from two or three different skeletons that had been scattered and put together by the scientists. The variance in the sizes of dinosaurs would be from the same species of dinosaur but in different stages of age and growth so it is assumed they are different species. In reality, there would have been less than fifty different types of dinosaur. Some of the hundreds of skeletons found are consistent with the descriptions of the dinosaur-like creatures mentioned in the Bible. The skeletons give us an idea of what dinosaurs looked like but because we only have skeletons, and some are incomplete, it is only an idea. They can assume markings on a fossil or rocks were feathers or fur but because there are only markings, it is impossible to know with 100% accuracy but they publish their assumptions as though they are facts. The distinguishing bodily features of dinosaurs make them quite different from other reptiles. Their limbs are positioned differently than known reptiles. The posture of some dinosaurs is similar to mammals. Reptiles waddle like the komodo dragon because their limbs project sideways from their body but dinosaurs walked with a gait similar to elephants with their limbs supporting them from beneath. The average dinosaur was about forty feet high and weighed over eighty tons but there were tiny dinosaurs too, some as small as the Thorny Lizard, also called the Thorny Dragon that lives in Australian deserts and eats insects. The Thorny Lizard really does look like a tiny dinosaur, although they could hardly be called 'dinosaurs' because they are tiny, only about 21cm (8 or 9 inches) long. Most dinosaurs laid eggs like many reptiles do today. One dinosaur was found with two unhatched eggs still in her body so the female dinosaur died and was buried too quickly for the eggs to have decayed.

Evolution is a lie and an incorrect theory. Non-believers embrace evolution because they refuse to accept God is all-powerful and can do whatever He wants. Non-believers have only man's perception, which is very limited. When we study the Word of God and then study the complexities of animal life, plant life, creatures too small to be seen with the naked eye and seem to be invisible, any reasoning person should be able to see it exists through God's handiwork. Life is too complex and detailed to be random. 'The invisible qualities of God since the creation of the world and the universe are clearly seen, being understood through the things that are created by God's everlasting power and divinity so they (non-believers) are without excuse' (Romans 1:20). Every animal on earth is 100% that species. There is no animal in any transitional phase nor has any been found. God created all animals as adults so they could reproduce and bring forth offspring. What came first, the chicken or the egg? God created the chicken fully capable of reproduction then the first hen laid her eggs and so we now have domestic poultry all over the world. Every animal was fully functional and capable of doing only what God intended it to do. For example, God did not create whales to fly. He did not create sparrows to live in the depths of the sea. God created every animal with its own purpose to enhance the lives of humanity. Only humans were created in the image and likeness of God and only humans have a living soul that can acknowledge and worship God. Animals only act on instinct and have no concept of time, space, celebrations or anything outside their own capabilities. No horse would ever be able to tell you how old it is because they have no concept of time. Dinosaurs were the same. They were all animals created by God for His purposes and they died out because of sin.

The animals that did not go into the Ark all drowned. They would have been buried with debris as mentioned earlier. Because of the rapid burial, many have been preserved as fossils in layers of sediment and there are millions of animal fossils all over the world, as we would expect from an international deluge. Scientists have acknowledged, dinosaurs became extinct all at the same time, often discovered on an ancient sea bed but now dry land, they showed no sign of disease or attack so their conclusion is the animals died in an almighty cataclysmic event but they refuse to accept the Bible's teachings regarding creation or Noah's Ark. Not all dinosaurs died out. There have been witnesses and written reports about sightings of dinosaur-like creatures. China has the red dragon that is exhibited in their dances during their New Year celebrations. Their red dragon is not an imaginary beast, it really did exist in that area hundreds of years ago. The story of Saint George slaying a dragon is based on fact. In Ireland in 900 AD someone had an encounter with a large animal with thick legs, strong claws and a large tail with iron-like spikes like nails. A Chronicle written in England in 1405 gives an eyewitness account of such an animal. "Close to Sudbury there has recently appeared, to the great hurt of the countryside, a dragon, vast in body with a crested head, teeth like a saw and an enormously long tail. It has devoured many sheep." A bishop named Richard Bell died in 1496. On his tomb in Carlisle Cathedral in England are brass engravings depicting creatures we would now call dinosaurs. These etchings were carved three hundred years before the first dinosaur skeletons were unearthed. Nobody knew about dinosaurs then so the people who carved the image would have been familiar with dinosaurs. The young Scandinavian hero Beowulf slayed a dinosaur-like dragon to protect his people using just a spear. People who lived in ancient Wales, Bhutan and Ceylon (before the country was named Sri Lanka) would have been familiar with dinosaurs, then called dragons because their flags have an emblem of a dragon on them. These relatively recent first-hand accounts of huge animals contradict the evolutionary theory of the 'age of dinosaurs'.

Further disproving the 'age of the dinosaurs' is the skeletal remains of a dinosaur with a mammal in its stomach. The mammal had not been digested before the dinosaur died, proving mammals and dinosaurs lived on earth at the same time, just as the Bible says. Scientists believe all dinosaurs were carnivorous but several dinosaur fossils have been found with grass and other vegetation in their faeces, proving they were herbivorous, just as the Bible says. People ask how ancient people could have killed the massive dinosaurs without using modern weapons. It would have been difficult using only traps, hewn wooden spears and fire, but so was killing whales out at sea in ancient sail boats difficult, using only ancient spears and harpoons, and water is a much more unstable element than land. Plus, whales are bigger and heavier than any dinosaur but ancient people captured and killed many whales. Two so-called dinosaurs that were thought to be extinct are the 'dinosaur fish' also known as the coelacanth, which is still alive and thriving, and the Wollemi Pine tree that was supposed to be one of the oldest trees in the world and extinct for 'thousands' of years, turned up alive and well in Tasmania, Australia. The tree cannot be any older than any other plant species because all vegetation was created on the same day!

Many dinosaur bones have been found with blood vessels, soft tissue, blood cells and haemoglobin. It would be impossible for bones aged millions of years old to have these tissues attached, further proving the fact, dinosaurs are a modern creation of only about 6,000 years, not millions of years. It also proved the dinosaurs died and were buried very quickly under recent catastrophic conditions, preserving their soft tissue, just as the Bible told us. Some dinosaur skeletons are so new, they still smell as though they died recently. The smell is described as 'cadaverous' but the palaeontologists working in the museum in Montana refuse to accept the bones are not millions of years old and are too recent to have lost the 'smell of death' even though the proof is right under their noses. That is the stubbornness of evolutionists. Even with proof staring them in the face, they refuse to believe it, such is the hardening of their hearts towards God and His Word. A formation in bone called 'permineralising' is further proof the Bible is accurate. Permineralising occurs when rock minerals are deposited into the tiny pore-sized holes in the original bone. This process can happen in a matter of weeks, especially if the bone is buried in water laden with minerals, just as the conditions would have been during Noah's flood. Permineralisation gives the bone protection from the normal bacterial agents that bring about decaying processes that cause an old bone to naturally disintegrate. Some dinosaur bones were so well preserved they could not be distinguished from modern bone. Bones aged millions of years old would have disintegrated but bones only a few thousand years old have been found intact. Some dinosaur bones were so well preserved it was thought they were modern cow bones so they were not reported for over twenty years.

Those who think evolution is true are indirectly stating the Bible is wrong when Scriptures reveal God is the Creator and our Saviour. From a Scriptural perspective, there is no mystery surrounding the disappearance of dinosaurs. In the holy light of the Bible the dinosaur mystery disappears. There is no record of evolution because it is a lie. The layers of sediment the dinosaurs were buried in are actually proof there was a global flood. The Bible is the only Book of Truth, written by Godly men to whom God could speak. God does not speak to non-believers like He spoke to His prophets. The Bible is an account of the true history of the earth and humanity and no fossil or skeleton can be more than 6,000 years old. All of the dinosaur bones discovered so far confirm the accuracy of the Scriptures.

All educational institutions should return to teaching what the Bible teaches and they need to cease teaching the lie of evolution. The evolution story has crippled our world because it has led millions of innocent children away from Godliness into sin. Those children have grown into adults without hope. Children are being indoctrinated in evolution by using dinosaurs as an 'evolutionary tool'. Teaching evolution is causing children to 'stumble' and fall away from God by the millions. Children are always the future because they grow up, reproduce and keep humanity alive. Children are important to God. Jesus made the importance of teaching children the correct doctrine very clear. This is what Jesus said about adults who cause children to 'stumble' and fall away from Him. "Whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in Me to stumble, it would be better for them for a huge millstone to be hung around their neck and for them to be sunk in the depths of the sea. Woe to the world because of occasions of stumbling ... woe to that person through whom the stumbling comes" (Matthew 18:6 & 7). Without God in our lives, sin abounds and the result of the abundance of sin is violence, divorce and other forms of family breakdown, rebelliousness, false religions, poverty, sickness, mental illnesses in abundance, promiscuity which can be sin against God Himself, occultism, cruelty to children and animals and many more evils this world endures unnecessarily. The promotion of evolution has drained the belief in God out of the hearts of children for generations and as a consequence of that, millions of people around the world are suffering from a lack of Godliness.

When you read this article and if you do not know God, turn away from the lie of evolution, embrace God our marvellous Creator, learn to appreciate what He has made for us, accept Jesus as your personal Saviour and study the Bible. There is a wealth of knowledge and information in God's written Word. The Bible gives us an accurate history but it also tells us what the future of mankind is. The Bible tells us what to expect. The Bible is filled with promises for those who believe and who obey God's commands, which are His desire for mankind's general behaviour. The Christian church, no matter what denomination, should not be silent on this matter. Teaching the truth of the Bible is a matter of Spiritual life and death – eternity with God or eternity in the lake of fire, which is worse than hell (Revelation 20:10). Evolution is a wicked deceptive tool of the devil used to draw millions away from God and it has worked. It is up to all Christians to fulfil their God given mandate and preach Gospel backed up with the whole Bible. We can make a difference to the lives of the unsaved. It just takes boldness to speak out in this increasingly carnal world of false beliefs and the worst false belief and false teaching in the world today is evolution. Christians around the world, we urge you to speak up for righteousness. Speak up for the truth of the Bible. Teach people, adults and children the truth about creation. Help start a revival by speaking up for the truth. Teach the Bible, the only Book of Truth.

This is what the Bible says regarding those who propagate a lie like this. 'Because of their wickedness God sends them a working of error so they should believe a lie. They will all be judged who did not believe the Truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness' (2 Thessalonians 2:11 & 12). 'False prophets and false teachers will be among you who will secretly bring in destructive heresies, denying even the Master (Jesus) Who bought them (with His blood) bringing on themselves swift destruction. Many will follow their immoral ways and as a result the way of the Truth will be maligned' (2 Peter 2:1 & 2). 'I command you before God and the Lord Jesus Who will judge the living and the dead at His appearing and His Kingdom, preach the Word. Be urgent in season and out of season. Reprove, rebuke and exhort with all patience and teaching. The time will come (and is here now) when people will not listen to sound doctrine but having itching ears, will heap up for themselves teachers after their own desires, will turn away their ears from the Truth and turn aside to fables (like evolution). Be sober in all things, suffer hardship, do the work of an evangelist and fulfil your ministry' (2 Timothy 4:1 to 5).

Amen and God bless you.
